brass finish! It comes complete with a REAL SILVER plated 7C mouthpiece and a beautiful & expensive hard case unlike cheap hard cases which come with most other trumpets. It has two spit valves. Special attention has been given to the main tuning slide assembly, which gives an uninterrupted airflow from the mouthpiece to the valve section. This gives the instrument an easier blow with a greater projection without the extra effort. The weight, balance and comfort of the instrument have also been given extra attention, so that when you pick it up, it feels right. This is the Baader Music 4 Valve Bb Piccolo trumpet and is made of fine quality brass, with chrome plating, giving it a highly polished silver finish. This trumpet is in Bb but you can slide the wind pipe out to change to key of A. In the piccolo trumpet, the first three valves serve the same purpose as the three valves of a standard mezzo-soprano trumpet. The fourth valve lowers the pitch a perfect fourth, so it is roughly equivalent to the combination of the first and third valves. (It is usually not exactly equivalent because generally the combination of first and third valves is sharp, whereas the player tunes the fourth valve to give an in-tune perfect fourth.) Contrary to popular belief, playing a piccolo trumpet does not automatically extend the performer's high range. It does, however, reduce the number of possible notes that can be played with any given fingering, thus potentially transforming blatantly wrong high notes into merely cracked or out-of-tune notes. This in itself would not account for the instrument's popularity. Rather, the piccolo trumpet is valued for the tone it produces, which is a result of its shorter tubing, smaller bell, proportionally narrower tubing, and the somewhat shallower mouthpiece cup and different mouthpiece backbore often employed by its players. $245

This is the Baader Music 3 Valve Eb Mellophone (Also called the Tenor Cor or Eb Alto) and is made of fine quality brass, with chrome plating, giving it a highly polished silver finish. It comes with an extra replaceable slide which changes it to the F note. This Mellophone has a 10" diameter bell. Conventional French horns have rotary valves, this hard-to-find Mellophone comes with piston valves (Périmet system) that makes it much easier to march with and also easier to play for someone who has been using piston valves. The sound is exactly the same as an advanced level French horn except that the newly designed piston arrangement makes it much easier to learn!! $260
